AVIATORS ABDUCTED BELGIAN JUDGE

Forced to Descend in Hostile Village to Repair Motor, They Grab Local Magistrate as Hostage.

FORCE OFFICIAL TO TAKE A SKY RIDE

Officers of German Aviation Corps Tell of Awful Experience When Machine Falls Into Hostile French Territory.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 15 (12:35 p. m.)—Two interesting stories of the experiences of German aviators during operations in the enemy's country have been received here from the front. The first is the recital of two officers who were forced to land from their machine near a hostile Belgian village because of motor trouble, and whose experiences ended by the abduction of the trembling village magistrate in an aeroplane; the second is the experience of two aviators whose aeroplane was shot down in the midst of the enemy's country. They managed to find shelter in a forest where they wandered for five days without food. Finally they were found half delirious, by advancing Germans.

The two officers, who had to land near a Belgian village, were attacked by the local residents, who armed themselves with shotguns. One of the Germans succeeded in seizing the village magistrate as a hostage, and while he kept his post at this official's head his companion repaired the motor.

Then they made the magistrate mount the aeroplane, which luckily was able to ascend with three passengers and sped away.

The other two men, whose machine was wrecked when it came down, were dazed and stunned from their fall. They were immediately attacked by French peasants armed with pitchforks and scythes. The Germans held these men at bay with their revolvers until they reached the dense woods, in which they hid. Peasants and soldiers hunted them systematically for days. They spent anxious hours crouching in holes like rabbits while their pursuers fired shotguns and rifles into every suspected thicket. They lived on roots and the only water they had was dew, which they sucked from leaves. Their minds almost gave way under the strain, and they were burning with fever when a German patrol found them.

GERMANS AND JAPS IN FIRST BATTLE IN THE EAST

Sharp Skirmishing on Land and in Air in Vicinity of Chi Mo; Japanese Cavalry Reaches Kiao Chow.

Chi Mo, Shan Tung, China, Sunday, Sept. 13 (12:30 a. m.), via Peking, Sept. 15.—The first encounter between German and Japanese forces on land occurred this morning when there were a number of sharp skirmishes between patrols of the contending forces at a point close to Chi Mo.

Previous to these engagements a German aeroplane flew over the district. The Japanese fired on the machine, but without success. A considerable Japanese force is reported twenty-five miles to the north of here.

A dispatch received here from Weihaiwei (sixty miles northwest of Kiao Chow) says fifty Japanese troops arrived there Sunday.

Peking, Sept. 15.—A report received here from Tsing Tau of German origin, declares a van guard of Japanese cavalry is at Kiao Chow city.

The same report has been transmitted to the government. The Japanese vanguard consists of thirty men. Three hundred more cavalrymen are due behind them.

The German chargé d'affaires in Peking, Baron Von Moltke, has notified the foreign office that his government reserves the right to deal with China, at the present time and the future, as it sees fit, because of the alleged breach of neutrality on the part of China, in permitting the landing on Chinese territory of Japanese troops whose destination was Kiao Chow. The German government further reserves the right to exact compensation for the losses which it and German subjects may sustain as a result of this action.

The German chargé disputes the Chinese contention that the situation is analogous to that which existed during the Russo-Japanese war.
